preparing to fight a "long war," by using tunnel combat tactics. Accordingly, the Chinese Communists in Korea have mobilized almost one million civilians and political criminals in northern Korea to dig an underground tunnel network. The tunnels will be long and will extend in all directions, with openings at strategic areas.

SETS UP AIR DEFENSE NETWORK IN NORTHEAST -- Hong Kong, Kung-shang Jih-pao, 8 Jun 51

SAYS CCF LAYING MINES -- Hong Kong, Hsing-tao Jih-pao, 20 Apr 51

Quemoy (Chung-yang) -- The Chinese Communists are now laying mines along the strategic coastal waters of Fukien and Kwangtung under supervision of Soviet technicians. All mine-laying equipment and mines are being supplied by the USSR. The mine laying is expected to be completed by May 1951. The mine field extends southeast to southwest and includes Amoy, Swatow, and Lei-chow.

Before obtaining this information, this news agency intercepted reports from Canton saying that sea traffic along the Fukien coast has been restricted, and all fishing vessels had been ordered to return to home ports by 20 April.

KMT MEN DIFFER ON CCF INTENT -- Hong Kong, Hsing-tao Jih-pao, 18 May 51

Taihoku, 17 May -- Opinions among the informed Taiwan KMT leaders differ as to the real intent of the CCF on the Fukien-Kwangtung coast. Some say that the Third Field Army is being reorganized and strengthened in preparation for the Taiwan invasion. Others contend that the CCF are merely increasing coastal defenses to meet any invasion threat from Taiwan. Still others are of the opinion that the Communists are recruiting and training new troops to fight in Korea. Those who think the Communists will invade Taiwan agree that the CCF may start the attack during the coming monsoon season.

CCF PRACTICING LANDING OPERATIONS -- Hong Kong, Kung-shang Jih-pao, 7 Jun 51

Taihoku, 6 June -- The Chung-lien She reported today that some ten amphibious tanks had been unloaded recently at Amoy and that the Communist troops are now using them to practice landing operations.
